

NEWS YOU CAN USE!

The sweeping financial aid reforms announced in recent months have expanded to include the schools listed here. These institutions will eliminate loans from their financial aid packages which means that qualifying families will no longer have to take out federal student loans.

Student Loan Buying Guide

The Colleges listed below have limited or removed loans altogether from their financial aid packages:

Amherst College
Appalachian State University
Arizona State University
University of Arizona
Bowdoin College
Brown University
University of California (system-wide)
Carleton College
University of Chicago
Claremont-McKenna College
Colby College
Columbia University
Cornell University
Dartmouth College
Davidson College
Duke University
Emory University
University of Florida
Georgia Institute of Technology
Harvard University
Haverford College
College of the Holy Cross
University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
Indiana University-Bloomington
John Carroll University
Lafayette College
Lehigh University
University of Louisville
University of Maryland, College Park
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Michigan State University
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
North Carolina State University
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Northwestern University
Oberlin College
University of Pennsylvania
Pomona College
Princeton University
Rice University
University of Rochester
Soka University
Stanford University
Swarthmore College
University of Tennessee
Tufts University
Vassar College
University of Vermont
University of Virginia
Washington University in St. Louis
Wellesley College
Wesleyan University
College of William & Mary
Williams College
Yale University